Brief Report on the Event	The NSS orientation session at PVPSIT, masterfully led by Dr. M. Syam Sundar and the dedicated NSS student team, was a resounding success. Rather than merely outlining a program, the session was a powerful call to action, effectively demonstrating the dual benefit of joining the National Service Scheme (NSS). By illustrating how participation allows students to both actively contribute to social service and simultaneously develop invaluable skills like character building and leadership, the program successfully inspired the first-year cohort. The result is a highly motivated group of students eager to become active contributors to the NSS movement and the wider community.

Name of the Activity / Program: National Service Scheme (NSS) Orientation Program Lecture delivered by:

- Dr. M. Syam Sundar, NSS Program Officer, PVPSIT
- NSS Student Volunteer Team

As part of the Student Induction Program at PVPSIT, an orientation session on the National Service Scheme (NSS) was conducted to familiarize first-year B. Tech. students with the objectives, values, and activities of the organization.

Highlights of the Session:

Dr. M. Syam Sundar, NSS Program Officer, introduced the students to the vision and mission of NSS, emphasizing its role in instilling a spirit of selfless service, social responsibility, and community engagement. He explained how NSS provides students with opportunities to contribute to society while simultaneously developing important life skills.

The session outlined the core objectives of NSS, including:

- Fostering social responsibility and community participation.
- Encouraging leadership, discipline, and teamwork.
- Promoting awareness on health, environment, and social issues.
- Providing students with platforms for volunteerism and nation-building.

The student volunteer team shared their personal experiences, highlighting how involvement in NSS activities such as blood donation camps, Swachh Bharat initiatives, plantation drives, awareness rallies, and village adoption programs had enriched their college life. They also spoke about the leadership, organizational, and interpersonal skills gained through these experiences.

Outcomes

- Students gained a clear understanding of the importance of volunteerism and social service.
- The session inspired many first-year students to actively participate in future NSS activities.
- The interactive nature of the program fostered enthusiasm and created awareness of how NSS contributes to both personal growth and community development.

Conclusion

The NSS orientation session, led by Dr. M. Syam Sundar and the NSS student team, was highly impactful in motivating students to engage in social service activities. By showcasing the dual benefit of serving society while building character and leadership, the program successfully encouraged first-year students to become active contributors to the NSS movement at PVPSIT.
